PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE APRIL 2008

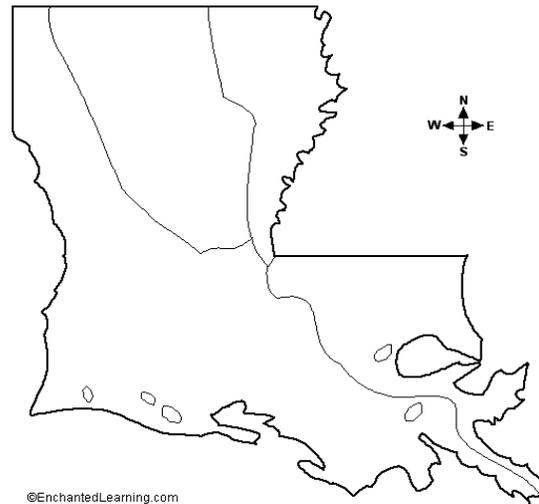

BY CAROL MILES

We need you!

We are looking for a few good social workers! One of the strengths of our organization has been our ability to stay on top of the legislative issues each session, that potentially effect our practice of clinical social work. To do that we have a lobbyist, of course, who does a great job of working with us on these important issues.

In addition, we have a legislative committee, made up of dedicated LACSW members who: look over bills, sometimes go to the Capital and meet with lawmakers or testify in committees.

This committee is crucial to our health as clinical social workers practicing in Louisiana. Please contact me if you are interested in serving in this capacity. You can reach me at lacsw2@hotmail.com or at my office at 985-893-1248.

Our base is Louisiana. Where are all the clinical social workers?

It is a brave new world out there with our legislature and now is the time for you to step up to the plate!

REMEMBER THANKS TO LACSW'S VIGILANCE:

- Medicaid reimbursement approved for LCSWs
- Keeping our law up to date
- Made sure we were not excluded in bills
 - EAP
 - MFT
 - CD

A New Role for Clinical Social Workers

By Leslie Todd, LCSW, ACSW

LACSW member, Baton Rouge

Louisiana recently passed Act 265, which allows for the appointment of Parent Coordinators in high-conflict cases. This is a perfect niche for clinical social workers who are not afraid of court-related work. Nationally, most Parent Coordinators are psychologists or attorneys, but Licensed Clinical Social Workers are well trained in family systems and child development. Please note that you must be a qualified mediator in order to become a Parent Coordinator.

A Parent Coordinator is an impartial third party who oversees the implementation of the parenting plan. He/she is not a mediator, custody evaluator, or a therapist. Much of the training is focused on helping the clinician learn to keep within the bounds of the Parent Coordinator role. The goal of the Parent Coordinator is to move the parents toward “structural disengagement” rather than co-parenting.

Licensed Clinical Social Workers in New Orleans, Lake Charles and Baton Rouge have been doing this work for years in some form, but since all parishes have different court systems, YOU have an opportunity to shape this role in your parish. The judges, attorneys and mental health people will have to collaborate to make this work. This is a wonderful marketing, as well as educational opportunity.

If you are interested in learning more about the Parent Coordinator role, please check out the website of the Association of Family and Conciliation Courts (www.afccnet.org), which has developed the professional standards for this role.

--Come to the table--

Join the LACSW and I in New Orleans

Most days there are 5000 miles and an ocean between us, but on May 9th and 10th I'll be back in New Orleans to offer this workshop with the LACSW. My Supervision and Ethics Workshops were birthed by the LACSW, so I'm excited to offer them again in a format similar to those offered in France this year. Look for lots of handouts, exercises, fun, and additional information on diversity and measuring success in supervision. Hope to see you in my audience in May!

Distance Work—Part Two Long Distance Lemonade

By Laury A. Bourgeois, LCSW-BACS

During our last issue, I raised long distance “lemons” with you. I hope you had a moment to think about creative ways you might squeeze them. This month (in addition to squeezing a few lemons for you) I've put you on notice of the upcoming Supervision workshop I'll be presenting for the LACSW. Hope you'll mark your calendars. Let the squeezing begin:

- Lemon #1: There will be no face to face meetings. Lemonade-Phone, fax and e-mail become the daily form of client communication. I am also always able to let clients know the next time that I will be in the states. If we must meet face-to-face during that time, the time is highly valued. Everyone is well-organized, prepared, and there is no “meeting to meet”.
- Lemon #2: There is a multiple hour time difference depending on where in the states the client is located-Lemonade, I am anywhere from 6-8 hours ahead of colleagues in the states and an hour ahead from the UK. Here, it's important to know office and lunch hours so you can get the most out of a day. I know that at 3:30pm in France it's 8:30am in New Orleans and I generally make my calls to CST between 4 and 6. Working with other consultants gives me more flexibility than government or organizations that have inflexible office hours. Generally, all telephone calls are scheduled and coordinated ahead of time by e-mail. It gets tricky a couple times during the year when the time changes and the difference lengthens or shortens. I find I have the illusion of ore time to work on projects because I can promise something to someone at the start of their day which is at the end of the day for me. I've teased my clients: “Isn't it nice to know that you have people working for you even when you're sleeping!”
- Lemon #3: All business is conducted by phone, FAX and/or e-mail-Lemonade-Limited opportunity to meet face to face makes phone, fax and e-mail the daily means of communicating with clients. Fax and e-mail are less time sensitive than phone calls, so anytime there is a need to schedule a telephone call or conference call it is done via e-mail. I believe that it is important to be as available as possible, so I have purchased a special contract with France Telecom for a flat monthly rate that allows me to talk between France, the USA and Western Europe 24/7 and fast access internet. I make all of the calls to clients so there is no cost to them for doing business with me abroad. It is important here to have an excellent anti-virus program and to have a back-up plan if phone and/or internet service are interrupted for some reason. Fortunately, I haven't been in that position yet, but I have a friend in the village who allows me to send and receive faxes from time to time and have gone to internet cafes in other emergencies.

To be continued next month-lemonade for lemons 4-7 and a summary of the overlying principles that make distance work work-anywhere in the world, not just in France.

The Louisiana Association of Clinical Social Workers (LACSW) is a voluntary association of clinical social workers whose mission is “to define, represent, promote, and protect clinical social work as a knowledge-based, client-centered profession which provides quality mental health services to the general public.”

LACSW offers its members the following benefits:

- A Board of Directors with state - wide representation to oversee the concerns of clinical social workers across the state of Louisiana.
- The only active presence in the Louisiana legislature through a full-time lobbyist who promotes clinical social work issues for the consumer and the social work practitioner.
- Discounts for workshops on clinical social work skills sponsored by the Continuing Education Committee within the Association.
- A clearinghouse for concerns of clinical social workers that are beyond the influence of the individual practitioner.
- Listing in a membership directory made available to health care companies and consumers to market the clinical social work services of the members.
- A Bi-monthly newsletter to keep members informed of the actions of the Association on their behalf.
- Staying abreast of national concerns via LACSW's membership in the Council of Social Work Organizations created in 2006 by the American Board of Examiners in Clinical Social Work.
- Representative interaction with managed care companies in Louisiana to assure high clinical practice standards and appropriate fee structures.
